ORC 3113.215 (D) (3):

The office of budget and management and the department of human services shall conduct a study of the impact on the general revenue fund of implementing the basic child support schedule in division (D) (1) of this section for combined incomes of at least six thousand dollars but not more than twenty-one thousand six hundred dollars. If, prior to July 1, 1994, the department and the office conclude from the study that implementing the basic child support schedule in division (D) (1) of this section for those incomes will have a negative impact on the general revenue fund, the department shall inform the controlling board of the impact and recommend to the board continued use of the schedule in division (D) (2) until a date which the department shall specify. On receipt of the department's recommendation, the board shall specify a date for discontinuance of the schedule in division (D) (2), which may be the date recommended by the department or any other date considered appropriate by the board. On the date specified by the board, the schedule in division (D) (2) shall cease to be used and child support shall be calculated pursuant to the schedule in division (D) (1) of this section.
